Oliver and the hideous zombies.

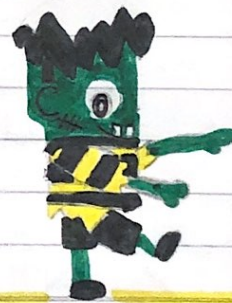

It was Halloween, a full moon was due to shine brightly that night. All was not well at Topcliffe School. A vampire had broken in and cursed the teachers, turning them into zombies. So Oliver went to the heart warming witch to find a spell to cure his terrible teachers. Meanwhile the dangerous zombies were gobbling up the shocked children. The good witch told caring Oliver to get a twinkling dragon scale and mix it up with smelly slime. Then off Oliver went skipping with delight until he came to a deep, dark cave. He peeped inside, there was a sleeping, snoring beast. It was a dragon! In Oliver crept as silent as a mouse. When he reached the happily dozing dragon he got out a silver, shiny, shimmering sword and carefully flicked off a glitening scale. Out, Oliver crept but RRRRRROOOOOOAAAAARRRR! The sinister dragon was after him. Oliver hastily ran as quick as a leopard running for it's prey. Then back he ran and mixed the scale with the slime. After many difficult attempts Oliver finally managed to trick the zombie-teachers into taking the medicine by disguising it as slime jelly. (Everyone knows zombies love slime jelly.) In an instance they turned back into humans. Oliver had saved the day and Topcliffe School.

Special Events

It's getting too cold to be out and about meeting up. I thought we could still come together in a different way. Let's all hang up a firework picture on our window for our own Asenby fireworks display.

Jokes

Why did the pumpkin roll across the road?

Because he didn't have feet!

What do you call a sleeping monster?

A Zzzzzombie!

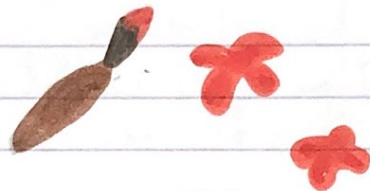

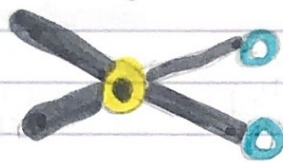

Craft: Fireworks Picture.

What you need...

- 2-3 toilet rolls.
- 2-3 different pots of paint.
- A piece of paper
- Scissors.

1. First cut thin strips down about a third of the toilet roll and bend them backwards to make a palm tree effect.
2. Next dip the strips into the pots of paint.
3. Then print overlapping firework prints in different colours.
4. Let dry and enjoy.

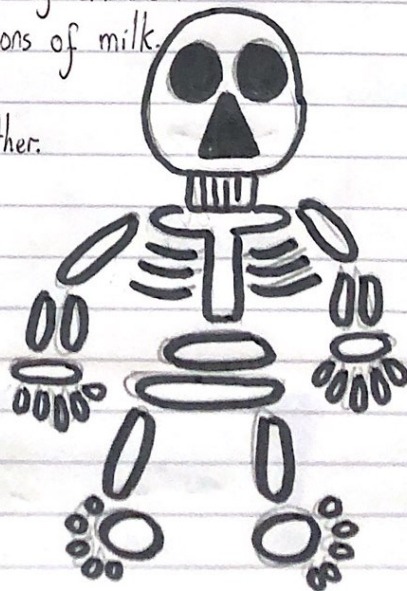

Baking: Spooky Halloween Biscuits.

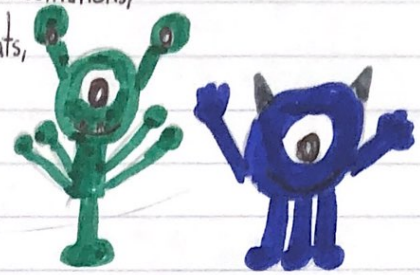

What you will need...

- 110g of butter.
- 150g of white sugar.
- 1 teaspoon of vanilla extract.
- 250g of flour.
- 1/2 a teaspoon of baking soda
- 1 pinch of salt
- 2 teaspoons of cinnamon.
- 1-2 tablespoons of milk.

1. First cream the butter and sugar together.
2. Next add the rest of the ingredients.
3. Then roll out 1 pound thickness.
4. Cut out spooky shapes.
5. Bake for 10 to 15 minutes at 180°C
6. Let cool and enjoy.

Witches whizzing as quick as a cheetahs on their broomsticks,
It makes me tremendously happy eating tasty treats,
Tiny, green aliens zoom around you,
Creepy vampires scare people "RUN!",
