

ASENBY'S SUMMER NEWS

Here comes Summer, sunny and warm,
 Eating cool, ~~sweat~~, cold treats,
 At the beach having fun,
 TV watching Oh no! it's time to go outside,
 Warm and muggy it brings a heatwave,
 All of us boiling and sweaty,
 Vivid flowers die of the heat,
 Everyone awaiting a hose ban,

What's on

Around our area we have going on the Asenby show where you can make an animal out of fruit or veg, paint/draw a picture, bake cookies and submit the funniest shaped fruit or vegetable, amongst other things. This will be held on Saturday 3rd September. We have also had the sad loss of the Farm Shop but you can always see them in the post office. We also have had the instalment of a bench at the chestnut tree. It will be a place that you could have a chat or just relax. As from the 26th of August there will be a hosepipe ban in our area for 2 weeks.

Facts

Did you know? The last hosepipe ban was in 1996. The hottest day this year in the UK was the 19th of July, temperatures reached 40.3°C in the east of London.

Apologies for a small and late issue. Things have been busy in the Robertson household. Look out for my next issue around Halloween. Enjoy the rest of the summer!
