Book review

This summer holiday keep reading by visiting your local library or trading books with your friends. Here is one of my favourite books.

Skandar and the Unicorn thief (also known as the new Harry Potter) is a thrilling adventure filled book perfect for ages 9-12 and Percy Jackson fans. In it our hero, Skandar Smith, joins forces with fellow friends Michele, Bobby and Florence and with the help of their unicorns, they embark on a mission to stop the weaver. I give it a five star rating. The second book has been released with the release of the third book coming in 2024 April.

SKANDAR & THE UNICORN THIEF

Poem

Environment is dying due to us
Calling out with terror and anguish
Our Planet once was God's masterpiece
Standing out beyond anything ever seen
Your ways are in your hands so stop so the Seas and lands will blossom with life
The skys will swarm with elegant birds and the Earth will once again be finally Magestic!

Joke

Why are cats so good at video games?

Answer: they have nine lives

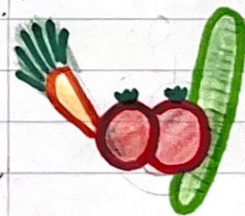

Events

This summer we have a range of events happening, including the Asenby park survey where you can voice your views into what new play equipment you would like so we can make sure everybody is happy.

In the village hall on Saturday the 2nd of September there is a chance for you to take part in many different competitions where you can show off your produce and much more at the Asenby and Topcliffe produce show.

In addition to this, we have the Summer fair on Sunday the 6th of August where you put up a stall to sell things like me and my family are doing.

Spilman's are doing PYO (pick your own), where you will be able to pick anything they have on offer including strawberries, raspberries and much more.

Meanwhile, Topcliffe C of E Academy are asking for funds to raise money for new play equipment. All donation are very welcome!

Enjoy your summer holiday!

Looking after our world

Recycle more

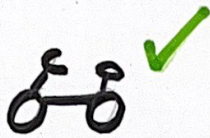

put bird seeders out

Try not to buy plastic-but if you have to, recycle it after

Litter pick

Eat less meat

walk or cycle instead of driving

Reduce, reuse, recycle, mend

Love local

Large areas of the amazon are destroyed to rear cattle collect rain water take shorter showers

Do Not Litter

have flowers for living creatures

Have a hole in your fence for hedgehogs only pee poo and toilet paper can go down the loo about 9 million tons of plastic end's up in the ocean

Buy second hand

Peter the Pigeon

Peter the pigeon was helping to clean up Aseby. Last night, Snickers the pesky rat, had been busy throwing rubbish everywhere. Crisp packets, bottles of wine corks and sheet wrappers covered in germs, were scattered around. Peter woke up his friends to help him. Roger the Rabbit woke first and was ready for anything. Slowly Ted the badger woke up yawning. Baldie the fox finally woke up and was feeling tired. When she saw the mess it made her angry. She sniffed and she smelt a rat. Suddenly, she recognised the smell and sprang out of her den and tried to catch Snickers. As soon as Snickers saw all of the crew, he ran away, as fast as his little paws could carry him. Snickers ran away to his lair - the bins. He was looking for more rubbish to scatter around Aseby. He loved rubbish so much! He wanted Aseby to be called Garbageby. He wanted to rule the village. Snickers was daring and mischievous. It was a brown rat with a scally long tail and an orange mowhawk. He smelled like rotten cheese and his teeth were a grimy shade of yellow. His friends Rot and Grot were under ginormous piles of rubbish. They stunk like rotten fish. They helped Snickers to do whatever he wanted to do. Rot had an orange mowhawk and Grot had a purple mowhawk. Meanwhile, Peter and his crew were setting up a trap to catch Snickers, Rot and Grot. They set up a trail of smelly cheese so that the disgusting rats would smell it and follow it. At the end of the trail was a huge hole filled with cushions and more stinky cheese. As expected, the rats followed the cheesy trail, gobbling the sticky cheese up. They were so busy eating, they didn't spot the hole and then they fell in.

They were very shocked and scared that someone might fill the hole with cement. Peter flew down to the hole to talk to the three rats. Peter explained that littering was bad for the environment. Snickers said, "oh sorry we did not no!" Snickers acknowledged for his mistake. With some help from Peter, Darcie Ted and Roger, the rats got out safely. They immediately cleaned up their mess and recycled it into a huge play ground that all the animals including their selves, could enjoy. Their favourite bit was a toy spaceship made of milk bottles and shiny bottles of wine. Snickers was thankful that Peter had told him littering was bad for the environment. He was still a smelly rat but nobody minded because now he was helping keep Asenby clean. The End.
